

PORE-COR RESEARCH SUITE BUG AND MODIFICATION LOG

First, please check that you are using the latest version of Pore-Cor RS. (The version number and date are shown on the Help | About drop-down menu on the opening screen. Compare this with the latest version shown at www.pore-cor.com/changelog.htm.) Then please provide a detailed description of bug or suggested modification, including screenshot or exact wording of any error message, plus all key strokes from opening program leading up to bug, or explanation of why modification is needed (continue on separate sheet if necessary). Thanks for your help !

.....
.....
.....
.....

Name of datafile used (if not supplied with program, please send or enclose a copy)

Severity regarding operation of program ¹ Instrument type (Micromeritics / Thermo / Quantachrome) ³

Usage level (EBrochure, streamlined , normal , advanced ...) ⁴

Pore-Cor RS version number, date and serial number ⁵ Date bug first identified (dd/mm/yyyy)/...../20...

Identified by (please print your name)..... Company/ Institution / University

Make and model of computer.....

Processor speed and type (e.g. Dual Core) Operating system (XP or Vista)

——Remainder of form to be completed by EFMG programmers only——

Log Number #6.

Date of confirmation

Confirmed by

Likelihood of occurrence ² ..

Modified by

Modified on

Modification incorporated into versions from

Detail of full or temporary fix (state which)

Other actions necessary:

Other action completed on: By.....

Key: ¹: 0 = cosmetic, 1=occasional annoyance ... 5 = stops proper usage entirely ² 1 = almost never ... 5 = always

³ As shown on Master data input screen under Experimental Data file type . (Always includes Pore-Cor types)

⁴ As indicated for EBrochure by opening Help screen, or as shown on the Options | Change Preferences dropdown window accessible from the opening screen

⁵ As shown on the Help | About Pore-Cor Research Suite dropdown window accessible from the opening screen